Leader of Distinction Awards

Each year, CSLA recognizes its “Leaders of Distinction” from schools across Canada. A Leader of Distinction is an advisor (education professional) who has consistently demonstrated excellence in leadership and an extraordinary commitment to the development of student leadership in Canada.

Nominations for Leaders of Distinction are reviewed and approved, in consultation with provincial representatives on its National Advisory Council, by the CSLA Board of Directors. Award winners are announced annually at the Canadian Student Leadership Conference.

Leaders of Distinction are awarded by province and territory. Up to two* individuals from each province or territory may be designated a Leader of Distinction award each year.

 Two awards will be granted as is deemed merited. Circumstances in which two awards are granted include: when two people have acted as co-chairs for a major leadership event, have worked together in partnership on a number of leadership projects, and/or if the legacy of leadership at a school or school district can be equally attributed to the efforts of both individuals.*
